Nordic Systems Engineering Tour

Empowering the North - From Hamburg via Copenhagen to Stockholm and Helsinki

The German chapter of INCOSE (GfSE), the Swedish chapter of INCOSE, the Danish chapter of INCOSE and the Finnish chapter of INCOSE are planning for a series of events in Hamburg, Copenhagen, Stockholm and Helsinki. The purpose of the events is, of course, to promote Systems Engineering and also to strengthen the links between the chapters. The format of the events is one day of presentations at each venue. The intention is to have four talks that are repeated at each venue complemented by a number of unique talks held locally at each venue.

Survey
INCOSE is a consortium partner in the MIT CEPE (Consortium for Engineering Program Excellence). As part of the research portfolio there is a study underway by graduate student Lukas Geissmann that involves data collection using a short (15 minute) survey (it can be seen at https://mitlai.qualtrics.com/SE/?SID=SV_1MTvf4Y173nL3r7). The intent of this study is to explore the influence of technology uncertainty on the supplier integration process and its outcomes. The outcomes of the study will be of interest to INCOSE members, who will be provided a summary of findings.

We invite your participation. Please CLICK HERE to complete the survey.

INCOSE Certification Exam to Transition to SE Handbook Version 4 in 2015
On March 1, 2015, the INCOSE Certification knowledge exam will be based on Systems Engineering Handbook Version 4 (SEHBv4). Until then, INCOSE System Engineering Handbook v3.2 should continue to be used to prepare for the certification exam for CSEP and ASEP. The time between SEHBv4 release and exam updates allows applicants who have already began studying to continue using currently published materials. It also gives the SEP Program Office time to develop and test new questions.
