Terms of Agreement for INCOSE GLRC-11 Tutorial Instructors

Author/Assignee IP Release:

For the purpose of this author release, INCOSE defines intellectual property (IP) rights as relating to: tutorials; conference recordings; and other formally provided tutorial associated works, all hereafter referred to as "materials". Materials are commonly provided by instructors to support INCOSE symposia, regional conferences, chapter meetings, and other INCOSE endorsed events. Generally, under copyright law, an author's written work is owned by and copyrighted to him/her or assignees unless specific releases are obtained.

The author certifies that s/he has secured all required approvals for publication by INCOSE and met any export and/or other applicable release requirements to publish. INCOSE will not confer with, or request approvals from others than the author for publication rights. If applicable, the author further certifies that, his/her employer and/or assignee have approved release of this material. Tutorial author(s) and/or assignee hereby licenses INCOSE to publish this work as needed to directly support the INCOSE and/or affiliated society's event at which the author and/or assignee will be presenting. The author(s) and/or assignee retain the copyright to their materials.

The first page of any work submitted to INCOSE shall contain a copyright notice as follows: "Copyright © (insert year) by (insert author name(s) or assignee).

The tutorial author and/or assignee may grant INCOSE further license to publish this work and to use it for all of INCOSE's current and future uses, with no remuneration to the author or assignee, by selecting the options found at the end of this agreement. The author and/or assignee retain the copyright to their materials.

If additional rights are granted to INCOSE, the first page of any work submitted to INCOSE shall contain a copyright notice as follows: "Copyright © (insert year) by (insert author name(s) or assignee). License for use granted to INCOSE."

Full Day or Partial Day Tutorial Compensation:

One Instructor per full day or partial day Tutorial will receive the following in exchange for meeting the Tutorial Conditions as outlined below:

2. One complimentary hotel night at the conference hotel for the Saturday full & half day tutorials, on the Friday before the tutorial.
3. If more than one person will present the tutorial, one member of the presentation team shall sign on behalf of the presentation team, and this person will be granted the Tutorial compensation unless otherwise explicitly stated by the signee.

The attendees will be charged a minimum fee for attending a tutorial with no remuneration to the author or assignee.
