Abstract

Since 2004, INCOSE has been offering 3 levels of Systems Engineering Professional (SEP) Certification – Associate, Certified and Expert. There are now over 2,000 certified Systems Engineers globally. This meeting will provide an overview of the Certification Program including its purpose, benefits and the process to obtain Certification including completing the application, reviewing the study materials and taking the exam. A round table of current ASEPs, CSEPs and ESEPs from Illinois and Wisconsin will provide practical insight into the process and the value of certification. There will be a time of Q&A so please bring your questions to this event.

About Our Speaker

Steve Perich is a Senior Systems Engineer at Hospira, Inc., a medical device manufacturer and the USA's largest manufacturer of generic pharmaceuticals.
