INCOSE Certification

Systems Engineering Professional (SEP) certification formally recognizes your progress through your career as you develop and apply systems engineering knowledge and practices.

- Associate Systems Engineering Professional (ASEP) – If you have just started practicing – or want to start practicing – systems engineering, then ASEP is for you. This certification is for people at the beginning of their career as a systems engineer. The ASEP has “book knowledge” but not yet significant experience as a systems engineer.
- Certified Systems Engineering Professional (CSEP) – If you are a practicing Systems Engineer with more than five years of systems engineering professional work experience, then CSEP is for you.
- Expert Systems Engineering Professional (ESEP) - If you are a systems engineering leader with recognized systems accomplishments and have many years of systems engineering professional work experience, then ESEP is for you.

Sherlock Holmes - Bayesian Pub Night: A group of seven individuals from the Vitamix Systems Engineering Community of Practice and the INCOSE Cleveland-Northern Ohio Chapter met to learn about Bayesian Networks, by utilizing the Sherlock Holmes Sliver Blaze story. A few also took part in a pre-event tour of the Suburban Clock & Repair store, hearing about their history, the various types of clocks they sell, the history of timekeeping, and how they go about repairing many of the clocks. We even saw a grandfather clock from the mid-1700's.

Mission

The Cleveland-Northern Ohio Chapter was formed to support INCOSE in the expansion of systems engineering understanding, practice, definition, and evolution. In addition, the Cleveland-Northern Ohio Chapter is responsible for the expansion of the INCOSE through increased membership both of individuals and organizations.

Our collective mission is to:

- Further the systems engineering effort through an aggressive approach to informing the local, national, and international systems engineering community of our highly professional organization dedicated to systems engineering excellence.
- Respond to our stakeholders' needs with enthusiasm and provide them with and/or develop the information that meets their specific requirements.
- Focus on understanding and disseminating the changing role of system engineering throughout the continuing advancements of the 21st century.
- Meet these needs through providing a forum and communications channel to exchange systems engineering information, questions, concepts, application to future technologies, etc. on a local level, providing a service that cannot be achieved at the national and international level.
