Abstract

Experience gained working with team members operating from different parts of the globe has taught us that small adjustments in meeting structure and rotating the timing of meetings can bring significant value in global businesses.

In this webinar, we will discuss what challenges can form due to different backgrounds, cultures, language barriers, and the most crucial, time zone differences. We will also talk about enhancing practices for overcoming the above challenges in global business. Presenters are an INCOSE intern from Australia, Bhautik Vadher and INCOSE Board of Director member from Singapore, Serge Landry. We collected information from INCOSE Café and conducted interviews with INCOSE leaders around the world. In this webinar, we will be sharing their thoughts, experiences and advice for optimizing global business.
