Author's IP Release:

For the purpose of this author release, INCOSE defines intellectual property (IP) rights as relating to: manuscripts; presentations; work products; conference: plenary, paper or panel session recordings; and other formally provided author works, all hereafter referred to as "materials". Materials are commonly associated with INCOSE symposia, regional conferences, working groups, chapter meetings, and other events. Generally under copyright law, an author's written work is owned by and copyrighted to him/her unless specific releases are obtained. An author usually desires that his/her works are afforded the maximum exposure possible among his/her peers and associates. INCOSE enables the creation, advancement and dissemination of materials. INCOSE and affiliated societies will give credit to authors when their works are reused.

INCOSE requires authors to obtain any needed approvals from employers, customers and/or assignees to meet legal obligations for publication by INCOSE and affiliated societies. INCOSE will not confer with, or request approvals from others than the author for publication rights.

The author certifies that she/he has secured all required approvals and met any export and/or other applicable release requirements to publish. If applicable, the author further certifies that, his/her employer and/or assignee have approved release of this material.

Author hereby licenses INCOSE to publish this work and to use it for all of INCOSE's current and future sale/uses, with no remuneration to the author or assignee. The author and/or assignee retain the copyright to their materials.

The first page of any materials submitted to INCOSE shall contain a copyright notice as follows: "Copyright © (insert year) by (insert author name or assignee). Permission granted to INCOSE to publish and use."
